

Dear _____,

As part of _____'s team, I wanted to share with you a resource I discovered that offers practical information, real-life examples and strategies for working with those on the autism spectrum. ASD Strategies in Action is an online, video training resource that is free to Ohioans. The training is the best of best practices put into action and was developed by an international panel of experts. I would love for you to check it out and take advantage of it, so that together, we can be the best team we can be! Thank you for your consideration.

How it Works for You

- Access online video training from your home or on the go when you need it most
- Complete courses any time and at your own pace
- Watch how strategies help families with social, communication, and behavior challenges
- See how young children, students, and adults build independence across a range of life skills
- Hear directly from children, students, and adults with ASD and their families about their experiences
- Implement strategies immediately as you learn them
- Better understand and advocate for what works for your loved one in the home, school, and community
- Listen as experts explain how the strategies work for you

Meet Real Families

The experiences of families play a central role in ASD Strategies in Action. You'll learn real world strategies from them that you can immediately use in your own home.

Share with Others
